Book review

Last week we finished reading our whole class guided reading book 'Harry the Poisonous Centipede' by Lynne Reid Banks. (You should all have your copies in your packs)

Today, I would like you to write a book review of the book.

To help you this is my review of The Very Hungry Caterpillar:

The Very Hungry Caterpillar

The Very Hungry Caterpillar by Eric Carle is one of my favourite books to read. In fact I could read it time and time again and not get bored of it!

The story is about a caterpillar who eats his way through lots of different foods everyday for a whole week. At the beginning of the week he eats things like apples, plums, strawberries and oranges but by the end of the week he is eating things that a caterpillar would definitely not eat so I wasn't surprised when he got a tummy ache! The story ends when the caterpillar builds himself a cocoon and eventually turns into a beautiful butterfly.

I really like the book because it has lovely pictures and reminds me of my favourite foods!

This book can be enjoyed by children of different ages because it is quite a simple story but also helps you to learn the days of the week and that caterpillars turn into butterflies.

I used these headings to help me:

Book Review

Introduce the book.

What is the book about?

Why did you like the book?

Who else would like it?
